Lt. Col. MacKenzie Gets Medal

Lt. Col. Alexander S. MacKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander S. MacKenzie of Orland Park, has been awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal at Pacific Air Force Headquarters in Hawaii.

As chief, promotions and separations division for the command, he was cited for organizing the officer quality control program into an improved management tool. Pacific Air Forces covers an area comprising nearly 40 per cent of the earth's surface.

Entering the military service in 1941 while a student at Wilson Jr. college in Chicago, he now has 18 years continuous service with more than seven years served overseas.

Prior to assignment in Hawaii, he was stationed with Headquarters, Far East Air Force, Tokyo, Japan.

He is married to the former Loes Monk of Salem, S. D. The couple and their son moved to a new assignment on June 6 to Maxwell AFB, Alabama where MacKenzie will attend the Air War College. During their stay in Hawaii, they resided at Hickman Air Force base near Honolulu.

Scholarships at CSHS Hit $60,000

The naming of the Aileen S. Andrew foundation award and the Parent-Teachers association awards at the recent Carl Sandburg high school honors night swelled the total value of scholarships to nearly $60,000 given to the 1959 graduates.

An additional $20,000 in scholarships was offered to several students, but due to lack of financial need, the grants were made on an honorary basis. According to Supt. W. O. Fisher, the above figures probably will be increased with the awarding of several other scholarships within the next two weeks.

The $3,000 Andrew scholarship was awarded this year to Reed Williams. This is the largest award available to Sandburg graduates annually. President Victor J. Andrew has been very pleased with the success of Andrew winners, which was evident earlier this year when the grant was increased.

Joan Gerza and Marianne Merwin were winners of the PTA scholarships, $200 and $300 respectively. The PTA also contributes heavily to the College Loan Fund available to college bound Sandburg graduates with financial needs.

The naming of the top ten seniors of the class of 1959 also highlighted the honors night. Recognition on the basis of both scholastic and extra-curricular attainment will be engraved names on a large plaque.

Marianne Merwin was the lone girl in the select ten, which included Bob DeVoursney, Dave Gibson, Jerry Hosier, Eric Johnson, Ken Miller, Richard Schereubel, Tom Schriber, Bob Stellwagen and Reed Williams.

The institution of medal awards to the outstanding students of various departments at Sandburg was a part of the honors night with Bob Stellwagen picking up three awards from the mathematics, science and English departments. Stellwagen is the number one ranking student in the Class of 1959 bound for Harvard university.

Marion Mahinnie won the business dept. award, Mary Alfrevic for home economics, Randy Watkins for industrial arts and Richard Schereubel for music.

Scholastic honor pins were presented to members of the junior and senior classes with 3.5 or better grade averages. Seniors with a B-plus or better mark for seven semesters named were Norman Behn, Mehlin Smith, Merle Martin, Danielle Palese, Gibson, Merwin, DeVoursney, Schereubel, Hosier, Miller, Stellwagen, Schreiber, Johnson, Williams and Gerza.

Juniors winning the 3.5 scholastic award were Betty Stellwagen, Pat Barrett, Nancy Wiley, Kathy Mortenson, Ken Wilz, Sheila Sundquist, Linda Pearson and Arthur Kartman.

Area Students Receive Degrees

The largest graduating class 659, in the history of the Northern Illinois University in De Kalb received degrees Sunday June 7. The majority, 427, received B. S. Ed. degrees. However, 191 received B. A. and B. S. degrees. 41 received advanced degrees at the Masters level.

The 69th annual Commencement was an outdoor event. Dr. Lowell B. Fisher, chairman Illinois State Committee, North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools, gave the main address.

Two area students and their degrees are as follows: Charlotte Roberta Gilmore, B. S. Ed., 212 E. 1st st., Mokena, and Lucille Ann Brandau, B. S. Ed., Tinley Park.

A number of Illinois State Normal University students who expect to receive degrees at the June and August Commencements have accepted teaching positions.

Among the students from this area who have new positions, together with the communities in which they will teach, are the following: Betty Ann Brancat, 14516 Woodland, Orland Park, teaching 2nd grade in Greenwood school Woodstock; and Diane R. Albright, 17633 66th ave., Tinley Park, teaching girls physical education in Main Township High school, DesPlaines.

Sandburg High Summer School To Open June 22

Carl Sandburg high school summer school students should register immediately to insure a place in class since enrollments will be limited, according to announcement by John F. Jorstad, summer school director.

About 200 students are expected in the 13 classes being offered in the seven week session beginning June 22 and running until August 7.

A maximum of one credit can be taken, with 12 of the 13 sections being for one-half credit. Classes will meet from 8 a.m. until noon, with the half credit sections meeting from 8-10 or from 10-12. The only full credit course is Art.

Courses in rhetoric for freshmen through seniors will be offered if a "C" average in English is shown. Government is open only to students with a senior standing. The second course in drafting, wood and metal will be offered to a student with a junior or senior standing or successful completion of the first course in the particular industrial arts area.

Personal typing, speech, arts and crafts, and home economics (cooking and sewing) are courses open to all students without a prerequisite.

Running concurrently with the summer session will be a foreign language program for grade school children with above average IQ's. Students eligible must be in either the fifth or sixth grade. For further information contact Superintendent W. O. Fisher.

The instructor will be Jacob Voelker, German instructor who speaks the language fluently.

Dance Saturday To Aid Mokena Band Uniform Fund

The Mokena Band Boosters are sponsoring a dance and card party Saturday, June 13 starting at 8:30 p.m. in the VFW hall on Wolf road.

The purpose is to raise money for the band members' new uniforms.

Members of the Band Boosters and committees have been working hard to make this dance and card party a success and hope there will be a large attendance. Not only is this affair to make money, but it will be an occasion when neighbors and friends may mingle and enjoy a pleasant evening. There will be many fine prizes awarded.

The band in its two years' existence has done well, its supporter point out. It won first place in the district band contest and second place in the state this year and many members won first, second,

Orland Park Arranges for Survey on Sewer Costs

The Orland Park village board has signed an agreement with Benjamin and Lang a Chicago bond house, to assist in making a cost survey for a sewer and water improvement program for the community.

And when such a program is agreed upon and engineers have finished with the design and specifications of the proposed system, Benjamin and Lang stand ready to purchase any bonds issued to cover the cost of the project.

Under the agreement, the firm would take any revenue bonds at 75/100ths of 1% over the highest yield quoted on delivery the day before on outstanding U. S. Treasury bonds. It's offer on any general obligation bonds would be 25/100ths of 1% over the top yield on U. S. bonds delivered the day previous to the Orland bond sale.

In a brief verbal explanation of the company's proposal—which was submitted in writing and is now a part of the village records—Edward Benjamin, one of the partners in the firm, said that because of the rise in interest rates on government bonds they were being used now instead of the Dow-Jones averages on bond sales. Higher rates on government bonds, of course, means all money will cost more.

Mr. Benjamin explained that the two major forms of financing public improvements today were revenue and general obligation bonds. Special assessment bonds are seldom used any more in Illinois because there is no market for them and the cost of contracts under such arrangements is hiked substantially to meet the discount at which such bonds are sold.

G. O. bonds, he explained, are retired in 20 years out of taxes. Revenue bonds, as the name implies, are paid out of municipal revenues—in this case water and sewer rates. They may run as long as 40 years, if desired, but would be sold under an agreement whereby they could be retired in around 23 years.

General obligation bonds would be the cheapest way to finance the proposed sewer system, Mr. Benjamin said, but a municipality is limited as to the amount of such bonds it may issue—five per cent of the equalized assessed value of the real and personal property.

Mr. Benjamin said his firm would make a thoro study of the situation and engineering plans before coming up with a financial report and a recommendation as to the course to follow.

Mr. Benjamin explained that would take 60 to 90 days before his firm could be ready with a report on the Orland Park situation.

In the meantime the village board is scheduled to hold a special meeting next Monday night and it is expected that at that time the question concerning appointment of an engineer will be resolved.

The Chicago sanitary district is now building a sewage treatment plant to serve Orland Park. Some say that the plant will be ready for use by September or early fall while others say it will be a year before it is ready for service.

Whether this means that further building in Orland Park

Hills housing development is to be held up until the plant is finished is a question the builders and the village would like a speedy answer.

The subdivision is now using an oxidation pond to treat sanitary sewage and the village engineer, Mark Lovejoy, says tests show it is doing an excellent job. Some months ago the Chicago sanitary district decreed that after 249 homes were occupied no further connections with the oxidation pond would be permitted, and that no building would be permitted until the treatment plant was ready.

The feeling of the village board is that this action by the sanitary district was taken before any contract was let for a sewage treatment plant at Orland Park, and now that work is underway the district would be willing to relax its order, in part at least.

At the meeting Monday night Duffy Construction Co. asked for 16 building permits, two in Unit I and 14 in Unit III. The two in Unit I were not affected by the Sanitary District. The 14 permits requested for Unit III were granted by the village with the proviso that its attorney, Raymond Pieper shall write a letter to the developer instructing him that the houses are not to be occupied until the Sanitary District approves further connections with the oxidation pond or the treatment plant is completed.

The 16 building permits called for construction valued at $224,000. Fees accruing to the village total $2,160; $65 of each permit defrays the cost of a water meter and a buffalo box.

Building Inspector Robert Miller also turned in a permit for a swimming pool for Frank Kruspe at 14327 Jefferson st. Cost of the pool is estimated at $1,800, according to the permit. This permit was approved as were two for signs. One is a temporary sign for the Orland Park Hills people at 153rd and West ave., and the other for a large, luminous sign to be erected at the Orland Park Plaza shopping center at 143rd and LaGrange rd. The sign is 12 feet wide and 14 feet high.

Area Group Plans to Locate New Financial Firm at New Lenox

A savings and loan association is in the process of organization at New Lenox. It was announced by Lloyd Berlin, grocer and one of the developers of a shopping center at the western edge of the village.

The new organization, to be known as the Lincoln-Way Savings and Loan Association, will be located in the shopping center.

"The Lincoln-Way area is growing rapidly," Mr. Berlin said, "and needs a savings and loan business to aid in this construction."

"Our group includes business and professional men from New Lenox, Mokena, Frankfort, Orland Park and Joliet, and we feel that a progressive financial institution will be a boost to our community as it moves into its biggest decade of growth."

"We are hopeful that this institution will add to community pride and encourage even more building in the future."

Application for a charter will be forwarded to the State Department of Financial Institutions next week.

According to Mr. Berlin the group plans to employ an experienced savings and loan executive to manage the business.

The incorporators include Mr. Berlin, John Oster, superintendent of schools at New Lenox, G. Merrill Cooper, an Orland Park business man, C. L. Klasing, a New Lenox businessman and Stuart C. Kroesch, a Joliet attorney.

Establishment of a savings and loan business at the shopping center will necessitate further extension of the commercial buildings there.

Space for the financial firm will be added to the plans for further extension of the shopping center facilities, it was said. Already plans are in the making for another building at the west end of the present row. This new building, it was said, will house Braun Sales, a discount house that has already outgrown its quarters.

The present site of Braun Sales, it was reported, will be divided to house a drug store and a package liquor store.

Request for rezoning of the area to B2 to permit location of a package liquor store was approved by the county zoning board of appeals which in turn was given an OK by the county board of supervisors. No objections were raised at the hearing.

Annual Youth Recreation Program At New Lenox Will Open June 22

The youth recreation program inaugurated by the New Lenox village board last summer will be repeated this season. At the regular meeting of the village board last week it was announced that the program would start June 22 and run to July 31. The New Lenox Lions club will provide the playground equipment.

Ronald Larsen, a member of the Lincoln-Way high school faculty where he also serves as wrestling coach, will be in charge, assisted by Carole Warner, who served in the same capacity last summer.

The program is designed for youngsters from 6 to 14 years old and all children in this age bracket in the village are invited to participate.

The Lions Den and grounds will serve as headquarters. It will be donated by the Lions club for the purpose. On days when the weather is bad, indoor activities will be the rule.

Besides games and athletic events there will be handicraft classes and a story hour under the direction of Miss Warner. Hikes and bike rides are planned too.

The program was so successful last year that the village board has appropriated funds for its continuation. It will operate in the mornings, from 9 to 12 o'clock, Monday thru Friday.

The Lions Den is on South Cedar road.

N. Lenox Board Names Brockway Bldg. Inspector

H. S. Brockway, of 114 N. Cedar st., has been named as building inspector of New Lenox on recommendation of Trustee Evans Drotts. He will work under the direction of the building board named by Mayor Stanley Gilmore. The building board is made up of Drotts, C. W. Batson, and Earl Summers. The building board will deal with questions arising from enforcement of the new building code.

Village Clerk Robert McCleary will still issue the building permits but the inspections will be made by Brockway. He will receive a $5 fee. Building permits at New Lenox cost $4 for the first $1,000 of the building cost and $1 for each additional $1,000.

The village board has instructed Attorney William Penn to write the state representatives from Will county (Continued on Page 6)

Police to Get Pay Hike at New Lenox

A raise in pay of 15 cents an hour has been granted New Lenox police officers, by the village board. Police have been getting $1.50 an hour and working an eight hour shift. Under the new rate the pay will be $1.65 an hour but the officers will buy their own uniforms.

The raise was voted by the board on recommendation of Trustee Stephen McGovney, police commissioner, who also is taking applications from persons who wish to do police work on an extra basis so the force may be kept at full strength during the vacation season.

Methodists, Zions Win in Softball Opener

Zion Lutherans and the Methodists took the first two victories in the season's inaugurals at Memorial Park in the Tinley Park Church Softball league.

Zion walloped Reformed, 29 to 7. The Methodists scored 5 runs in the last 2 innings to break open a close game with the St. George Knights, 12-5. The Nazarene - St. George Holy Name game was cancelled and will be played at a later date.

Sparked by Dale Hartwig's two home runs, the Lutherans roared away to a convincing 18-0 advantage by the end of the 3rd inning. It wasn't much of a contest after that point.

Every batter in the Zion starting lineup had at least two hits. Logan Rich, Wally Eggert and the Propp brothers Dean and Tom all collected 4 hits in the lopsided contest with Reformed. Rick and D. Propp each had a home run to add to Hartwig's pair. Eggert connected for 3 doubles.

Not one player managed more than one hit for the Reformed team. However, they scored 7 runs in the Lutheran 5 in the last 3 innings.

The Knights took a short-lived lead of 2-0 in the top half of the 1st inning, but could not hold on as the Methodists countered in their half with 4.

Both teams scored runs in the second. The Methodists added 2 more in bottom of the 3rd and then scored as many as the Catholics in the 5th with another 2.

Don Gee was a power behind the Methodists. Don blazed 2 homeruns in the winning cause. Gee had two hits in three tries.

Tom Mortenson and Paul Jeffords hit for the circuit for the Knights. Tom had 2 hits in the game.

Ken Webster and Rich Hopman were good for 3 hits apiece for the Methodists. Al Sippel of the Methodists had a homer and double for his evening. Hopman had a pair of doubles.

Next Monday at 6:45 p.m. the Nazarenes meet Zion Lutheran. Methodist battles St. George Holy Name. Reformed will play St. George Knights.

"SAY MISTER, when is this here race track going to be ready?" queries eight-year-old George Cooper as he stands ready with riding helmet and midget car in top racing form. The men left to right, Dick Gray and Norman Keuch, promise if weather permits to have the track installed in time for Father's Day. George is the son of Glenn Cooper, who owns and operates a service station on 159th st., just east of Route 45. Orland Township, who donated land adjacent to the station for a 1/4 mile race track for kids. One of the requirements for children to enter cars for midget racing is that they must have passing school grades. C. D. Gray, a Tinley Park contractor, is donating the earth-moving equipment shown to level the area and prepare it for the track. Employees Dick Gray, Keuch, and John Freeborn of Crete, are donating their services to operate the equipment. The racing association is a non-profit endeavor operated by parents of children participating, and is part of a national organization. Principals of safety and driving are taught the youngsters and prior to racing sessions, a driving school session is held. Safety is stressed and not speed.

Tinley Pony Loop Season Opens With Aces Winners Over Treys

Team No. 1 defeated Team No. 3 in the opener of the Tinley Pony League by the score of 10-9.

The game was called at the end of five innings due to darkness.

Both managers, Geo. Glett of Team 1 and Mr. Goeble of Team 3 were pleased with the calibre of baseball demonstrated by the boys in the league opener. They felt that both teams showed plenty of promise.

They were especially impressed with the youngster who had graduated from the Little League. Lonnie Siebrandt, who pitched a great three innings for his first effort in Pony League battles, especially drew raves, as John Punis collected three hits for the winners and scored three of the ten runs. Mel Willie was good for two hits and three runs for Team

Tattersall, Kladis Aim for Feature Race

Danny Kladis and Bob Tattersall, the two "hottest" drivers this season has produced, are aiming for their third feature victory in the midget auto races Saturday night at Joliet Memorial stadium.

Kladis, of Chicago, won his second main event last weekend. Tattersall, veteran driver from Streator, captured his second feature the week before.

On June 8, 1927, the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., instituted a short three-month course for midshipmen in ground and flight instruction as a preliminary step toward qualifying as naval aviators.

Both felt that the Little League competition in Tinley Park is rather good. "Our hats off to the Little League managers for the excellent job they have done in training these young fellows," was their glowing comment.

Jolietan Bernie Wilhelm, meanwhile, will be seeking his first feature race victory Saturday. Wilhelm has placed second in the main event three times this season, but victory has eluded him.

Drivers who will try for victories Saturday include Bob Hauck of Joliet, the only other driver who has won a feature; George Sellery of Chicago; Jerry Matter, Naperville; Pat Dellegrazie, Skokie; Bob Tomlinson, Oak Lawn; and Jolietans Russ Sweedler, Dick Akins and Roy Shields.

Time trials Saturday will start at 7:30 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 p.m. Included on the program will be four heat races, a handicap, 15-lap semifinale and 25-lap feature.

Browsing Through The Cold Stove League

By DEAN DALLAS, Sports Editor

The high school sports calendar is finished for this year. The announcement of the SW Suburban All-Star baseball squad shut the book on the events of the past year.

It would seem that other ways of picking an all-star team should be available to the press. Or—if not the press—a better way of picking the squad. Coaches are usually men of discretion, but it would seem that players on a team would know as much about their opponents. We would like to see player participation in the SWS all-star selections.

A specific number of quarters or minutes of participation would be necessary in the particular sport to give the player a vote. Each player would vote an all-opponent squad. It would be a little more troublesome, but possibly a bit more correct. We are quite certain that the players would take the business most seriously. We also think that it would add more weight to the selections.

We are not for 10 or 15 different teams, but we would like to see a revision of the present means of selection at the next athletic directors meeting in the SW Suburban conference. We are happy to accept the one all-star squad from the SWS officials, but feel that a little more representative voting would add to the prestige of the squad.

Bill Cady, assistant basketball coach at Lincoln-Way high school, has moved over to the new Homewood-Flossmore high school. Don't know whether Bill will be in athletics there.

In the next year a new officer will be added to the SWS conference. His job will be to select competent referees for the conference schedule. We think that this move was a wise one for the SWS conference. It should eliminate the ties with schools—to a degree.

The Semmler Press has a printed score sheet for baseball. All of the Small Fry, Little Leagues, Pony Leagues, and Police teams that anticipate publicity for this next season ought to visit the office or write for these score sheets.

However, the score sheet must be sent to the Semmler Press, in Mokena, the day following the contest. If the sheet is sent out later—it will not get into the newspaper.

We are planning to give plenty of local coverage of sports this summer. We will try to print the lineups, etc. To give the kind of coverage that you want and we want to give you—we need your full cooperation in sending in all the particulars—pronto!

Backwood Trails

By ART SCHUMANN

It has long been a topic of debate in Illinois as to whether mourning doves should or should not be on the list of hunted species. Each year there is much hassling before it is decided one way or the other. Before 1886 the mourning dove in this country was regarded as a song bird. As the supply of game began to dwindle, first in the southern states, the dove was brought forth as a game bird. It is a small bird, little larger than a robin, friendly and trusting, living close to our door yards. There is perhaps no sweeter sound than a dove singing outside your door.

Due to its small size as compared to other game birds and its large economic value there has been strong public sentiment to have it removed from the game list. One of the biggest supporting arguments to this is brought forth by sportsmen themselves, who claim hunting the dove is nearly a means of getting your shooting eye for the coming season, and few people who hunt them actually eat them afterwards.

Many doves lie where they fall or end up in a can after the "hunter" takes them home. As one sportsman put it recently "Imagine a full grown man with a shotgun going after a little tame bird that a two month old baby could strangle with one hand." Another argument gaining support is the fact that the dove season should not be held in September if it is to be held at all. It has been found that more than one-fifth of the total dove nesting is in September.

The recovery potential of this species is low. Doves lay but two eggs, and average two nestings a year. The young are completely helpless and dependent on the parents for two weeks. The young and egg mortality at times reaches 50% so the recovery ability fall far short of those species which lay up to 20 eggs and bring forth young that are able to "eat and run" when hatched. This means that if they are to continue as a game bird they should be helped to reproduce to keep the species plentiful as has been done with pheasants, quail, deer and even prairie chicken.

With the reduction in natural cover each year, the dove is dwindling. It can't continue by itself if it is to stay a "game bird" but will become extinct. The biggest value of the mourning dove lies not as a game bird, but as a welcome friend to the public as a bird that helps to rid us of noxious weeds. The crop of one dove was found to contain 9,200 weed seeds as part of a day's feeding. Five billion dollars is spent annually in the United States to control weeds and any small percentage of that sum saved would be far in excess of the value of dove meat.

It is now estimated that less than one percent of the hunters who buy licenses each year actually hunt doves. Some of the weeds that mourning doves thrive on are bull thistle, bramble, crowfoot grass, crabgrass, evening primrose, foxtail, Johnson grass, pokeweed, poppy, ragweed, spider wort, tumbleweed, and wild sunflower. These weeds alone cause huge expenditures each year by many families.

Doves here, as thruout the world, are facing serious depletion and extinction because of increasing human population, increasing wealth and leisure and greater demand for something to shoot at. A few of the states now protecting doves are Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Nebraska. All together 18 states are now protecting doves.

In 1857 the Ohio legislature passed a pompous and windy resolution that the passenger pigeon needed no protection, and never would. It didn't require hundreds of years to prove how fatally wrong these men were. The last passenger pigeon died in the Cincinnati zoo 54 years later.

Some exterminated birds, such as the passenger pigeon, Labrador duck, palas eskimorant, great auk, and eskimo curlew will never be seen in the wilds again. The end is near for the kite, California condor, bald eagle and whooping crane. In addition there are several threatened species such as the trumpeter swan, wood duck, jack-snipe, prairie chicken, woodcock and mourning dove.

It is up to the hunter more so than anyone, to help these birds to survive. Each year many beneficial hawks and owls are shot by ignorant gunners. There are 16 million of us hunters in the USA; let's do our part to help preserve our hunting by watching what we shoot, how many we shoot, and not shooting what we don't intend to use. There are many generations of hunters coming after us; let's give them a chance too.

Marley Church Seeks Funds for New Addition

An $18,000 addition is being planned for the Marley Baptist Community church. The proposed addition, 20 by 40 feet, will be annexed to the south end of the church. It will provide classrooms for the Sunday school, a pastor's study, a new kitchen, new heating system and an enlarged dining room.

Russell Lauffer is chairman of the building committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Edward Sproat, Mrs. Francis Nelson, Mrs. Loren Sass, Edward Sproat, Francis Nelson, Harwood Stellwagen, and James Frazer, honorary adviser.

Due to the growth of the community, the dream of a new addition, which was started in 1954 when the Memorial Building Fund was established, is being fulfilled. Gifts may now also be given in memoriam. A money raising campaign is underway.

Initial gifts may be made before June 14. Commitment week is from June 14-21, when pledges may be made toward the $18,000 goal.

Honor Graduates At Bible School Services Sunday

During the opening service of the Methodist Sunday school, last Sunday morning, five members of the Sunday school who were just graduated from high school were honored. They are Gerri Ann Hull, Sue Dobbs, Thomas Ricketts, Michael Werner and Douglas Porick. They were each given a Methodist hymnal. During the special program a clarinet solo was played by Paul Brown and a saxophone solo by Dale Westlund. Mrs. Elias Brown accompanied her son at the piano.

Immanuel Lutheran church will inaugurate double services Sunday morning on an experimental basis. Services will be held at 8 and 10 a. m. with Sunday school at 9 a. m. The early service was established to relieve the crowded condition of the auditorium with just one service, to provide a service in the cool of the morning, and to provide an opportunity to worship to those planning trips, picnics, or other activities for the day. After a two month period the church council will review the results and decide whether or not to continue the double services.

The Mokena village board has given a building permit to Gustav Steinmetz, Mokena, to build four 4-room apartments, with a common utility room at 305, 307, 309, 311 Front st. The buildings which have been started will be of ranch type.

The Mall house which W. A. Muehler bought recently was moved from the corner of Wolf road and Front st. Tuesday, to 192nd and 114th ave. It has five rooms and bath and "walked" right along without any trouble. Mover Crossen of Joliet did the work. The house will have a new basement and be remodeled.

The Women's Society of Christian Service will meet in the Methodist church this afternoon with dessert coffee served at 1:30 by Mrs. L. F. Teague.

Mrs. William Bradley, Jr. will present the devotions and Mrs. Elias Brown, the program. The topic will be "A New Ambassador for Christ."

The Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Jackson will spend this weekend at Duluth, Minn. at the Methodist conference where he will be ordained.

Mr. and Mrs. John Balaz and their grandson Neil Erdman, left by train Monday for a vacation in the eastern states.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bormet held a family reunion Sunday and also celebrated the 80th birthday of her father, George Kochel. The 40 guests came from Mokena, Frankfort, Monee, Joliet and New Lenox.

Mrs. Rose McMahon returned this week from Birmingham Mich., where she attended the wedding of her grandson, Dennis Craig Moriarty to Diane Schaad of Birmingham, on June 6. Her daughter, Mrs. D. Wessels of Houston, Texas who came to Mokena to accompany her parents to Michigan for the wedding, returned here with them and left yesterday for her home. The wedding ceremony was held at the First Presbyterian church in Birmingham. A luncheon followed at the home of the bride's parents and in the evening a dinner was held at a hotel for members of the immediate families. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Eastern Limit Of New Lenox Still Uncertain

Whether Cooper street forms the eastern boundary of the village of New Lenox or the line runs west of the street is a matter for a survey and the New Lenox board is considering having one made.

The survey should determine whether maintenance of the road is the responsibility of the village or the township or should the line go to the road —whether village and township will continue to divide the cost.

The question was discussed at some length at the village board meeting last week. Supervisor John Francis and Township Highway Commissioner Willard Hafka attended the meeting at the request of Trustee Keith Hossack, village street commissioner.

In response to a question by Mayor Stanley Gilmore relative to paving North Cedar road, inside the village, Supervisor Francis suggested that the board take it up with the state highway engineers thru the proper channels and they believed that something could be done. Francis said he would be glad to assist the village any way he could.

Palos Center Will Conduct Ceramics Class

The Community Center Foundation will offer a class in ceramics for children six thru 11 years of age during the summer months. Starting on June 24 the group will meet each Wednesday morning from 9:30 to 11 in the Craft shop of the Foundation on Southwest Highway at 127th street. Instructors will be Mrs. Howard Fish of Orchard Park and Mrs. Marvin Kutchinski of Palos Heights. Both are trained teachers as well as artists in their own right. Mokena Girl, Shooting Victim, Sues Saloonists

A $20,000 suit under the dram shop act has been filed in the Will county circuit court by Miss Nancy Armin, 18, of Mokena, as a result of gunshot wounds suffered last Jan. 9 in Joliet.

The plaintiff was occupying an apartment at 502 W. Jefferson street in Joliet at the time of the shooting. The person wielding the gun was 35 year-old Leroy S. Barwell. According to the suit Barwell is alleged to have been under the influence of liquor at the time and named as defendants are the operators of three Joliet saloons and the owners of the property in which the bars were located. Barwell is alleged to have been served liquor in all three places, the Union Tavern, Frankie's Package Store and Tap Room and the Water-front.

Miss Armin was shot in the back.

Will Use Dye Tests in Hunt for Pollution Source

Dye tests to determine the source of polluted waste water on Wood street, in the vicinity of Elm, are scheduled for this week at New Lenox.

The tests will be conducted by Trustee Noel Elliott, village health commissioner. They were ordered by the village board at its regular meeting last week when a report was made that the flow of such water along the road and across neighboring property is in violation of health ordinances.

When tests show the source of such violations, the board agreed, warrants will be issued for the offenders and they will be brought into court.

Citizens Group At New Lenox Studies Sewers

A citizens committee to study a sewer and water program for New Lenox is being set up with Trustee Chester Bowman as chairman. To date four persons have accepted places on the committee: Lester Brown, postmaster and member of the plan commission; Lloyd Berlin, former mayor and village trustee; John Oster, superintendent of the New Lenox grade school, and John Anderson, attorney. Mr. Bowman has been studying the estimated cost of the sewer and water plan made a couple of years ago following a survey paid for by a federal grant.

The cost of the project as outlined was considered prohibitive by the village board and that had the survey made and the plan was abandoned. Bowman, however, hopes to develop alternate plans which will carry a lower price tag.

A report of the committee's progress will be made at a meeting of the New Lenox Lion club on June 24.

Hold Funeral Rites Today for William English

Funeral services for William J. English, 67, of Woodlawn Circle, Mokena, are being held today at 2 p. m. from the Hirsch Funeral Home, Tinley Park. The Rev. W. J. Riemann, pastor of St. John's Church of Christ will officiate. Burial will be in St. John's cemetery. Mr. English, who was a round house foreman for the Rock Island railroad, was attending a business meeting in Joliet Monday, when he collapsed and died a few minutes after he gave the opening remarks.

A fire department inhalator squad was summoned shortly after 3 p. m. and for 25 minutes made an attempt to revive him.

Chief Deputy Coroner Harry Grant was notified. He said there would be no inquest, since Mr. English had been under the care of a physician. Born in Kirkcaldy, Scotland, Jan. 30, 1892 he came to the United States as a young man. He worked for the Rock Island for 35 years. He lived in Midlothian for a number of years and moved to Mokena 12 years ago.

Surviving are his widow, Clara B. English and one daughter, Mrs. Cleo McKeen.

Lincoln-Way Building Plans Encounter Snag

The Lincoln-Way high school board had accepted the bid of the R. T. Johnson & Co. of Chicago as general contractors for the addition to be built to the school but now it doesn't know whether the company will take the contract.

The board has received a letter from the company saying that it made an error in computing its bid and the $325,217 figure it submitted is too low. The firm has a $20,000 certified check on deposit with the board.

Second bidder was J. A. Kemmler, Chicago, whose figure was $359,300.

It is said that the board could throw out all bids and start over or it might be possible to negotiate with the second bidder.

The board is meeting this week to discuss the situation. The bids were opened May 28. The subcontractors are ready to begin work.

Plan to Divide Frankfort Twp. In 5 Precincts

The Will county board of supervisors has voted to divide Frankfort township into five election precincts for county and general elections. There were but two precincts.

Just how the division will be made has not been settled, according to Harold Cooper, town clerk and Republican precinct committeeman in Mokena, which was the second precinct of Frankfort township.

Inasmuch as the population in the Mokena area is believed to be greater than that in the vicinity of the village of Frankfort it was said that in the vicinity of the village of Frankfort it was said that the Mokena side probably would be split three ways and Frankfort twice.

This is purely speculation, it was pointed out, and the decision will not be made until later.

The township is too large to be left as two precincts, it was explained. Frankfort I has 1,282 registered voters and Frankfort 2, 1,464. The law recommends that the voting population of a precinct be kept under 800.

MOKENA BOARD—

of the Rock Island; Robert Geuther, president of the Mokena grade school board; William Weber, a farm owner and opponent of the proposed village plan; Herman Gee, a real estate dealer working with the Feeley group, and Edward and Clarence Lauffer, farmers, were among those who had something to say.

The housing developers reiterated their statements before the plan commission, stating that they would like to annex to the village and would like approval of their subdivision plat by the village. They plan to build about 400 homes a year for the next five years, plus apartments and a shopping center. The plan commission is opposed to this development on the grounds that the property thus utilized would be of more value to the community if it were held for industrial development.

Needham said that he had been talking with Rock Island officials concerning industrial development and they had agreed that it was almost impossible to get industry to locate in areas not zoned for industrial purposes.

Mr. Geuther said that even with the housing developers giving land for a school site and contributing so much a lot to aid in construction of new schools or additions to current schools, the homes would not bring in enough taxes to give proper support to the school systems. Any contributions made by the housing developers would have to be shared by all the districts involved. He also pointed out that the proposed shopping center lies outside the Mokena grade school district.

Industry would serve the schools much better than housing, Geuther said. All the housing will do, he pointed out, is add to the expense of the district.

Weber, who would not allow any industry within a mile and a half radius of the village if he had his way, contends that industry would be bad for the community in that it would bring in undesirable residents.

The Lauffers expressed fear that farm land would be given a higher valuation if zoned for industry than it would if left as farm land. They were told that the valuation was fixed according to the use to which the land was actually put, and that while it was being farmed it would be valued on that basis.

A representative of the Alexander Chemical Co., would have the village use that firm's method for dissolving iron in the municipal water system. No decision was reached.

It was also announced that the village sewage treatment plant was in operation and that persons who have not yet connected up their sewers may do so at any time. The village will begin billing for sewer service on August 1. Persons who paid $10 when they signed up for sewer service

Police Committee Advises City Council to Hire Full Time Chief

By EVELYN VAN HORN
Sycamore 8-8921

At the council meeting last week, the police and fire protection committee advised the council that they should at once hire a full time chief of police and purchase whatever equipment is necessary.

In choosing a chief the committee advised, he should be a man of unquestionable integrity, administrative ability, capable to organize the department, train and integrate with volunteers, live in Country Club Hills, if employed elsewhere he should have a reasonable length of time to resign; have personality, with background and age somewhat akin to that of most of our residents.

The committee also recommended the appointment of a citizens committee of three members whose duties would be to screen applications and eventually submit five or more selections from which the Mayor and council will make the final selection.

Wm. Baader, city treasurer, reported he had contacted several firms in regards to audit of the books. John Adams, of William Wagner & Co. discussed his company's handling of such an audit.

Time to Stop, Look and Listen, Mason Warns

By CONG. N. M. MASON

What has happened during the last year to the credit rating of the United States? The following facts are frightening. They should cause our "spendocrats" to hesitate and ponder over their wild spending program.

a. In 1958, U.S. 2 1/4% ten-year bonds sold at 98, thereby yielding 2 7/10% interest on the investment. Today those same bonds sell at 86, thereby yielding 4.29% interest on the investment.

b. In 1958, U.S. 5-year bonds paying 2 5/8% sold at 101; they are now selling at 94.

c. In 1958, the Treasury sold one-year certificates of indebtedness amounting to $1.3 billion, paying an interest rate of 1 1/4%. These certificates came due last month, and the Treasury offered them to the same buyers at an interest rate of 4%.

What happened? One-third of those buyers turned down of any kind will be needed in September as the Girl Scouts are growing. Those who will help please contact Mrs. Herbert Nelson, SY 8-0476.

these one-year U.S. certificates of indebtedness even at a 4% interest rate.

When Uncle Sam, hat in hand, says, "Please renew my note for another year at three times the interest rate paid last year," and is turned down by one-third of the same buyers that were glad to buy last year, there must be something happening to the credit of the United States. What is the cause of this change in one year? Isn't it time to stop, look and listen?

What Happened Nov. 4, 1958?

On Nov. 4, 1958, COPE accomplished what it had been striving to accomplish for years, namely to elect a majority in both houses of Congress. COPE is now a major influence in national politics—more powerful than either political party.

Two hundred and twenty six of today's house members and 52 senators have been elected thru the efforts of COPE and are under obligations to COPE. The same situation exists in many state legislatures.

Conservative Republicans should take warning from the following:

a. Republicans lost some 700 seats in state legislatures in 1958.

b. Republicans controlled both houses in 26 states in 1952; now they control in six.

c. In 1952 there were thirty Republican governors; now there are only 14.

These things were brought about by a well-organized, well-financed, hard-working, determined, astute labor minority. The treasuries of labor unions were used liberally by COPE and other lesser political action groups for "education and citizenship purposes" to advance the political fortunes of their political friends.

It is estimated that over $6 million was spent by organized labor during the 1958 campaign.

Walter Reuther and George Meany thru COPE have for all practical purposes taken over the so-called Democratic party, dominating and controlling it. The Democratic party in California, Michigan, Oregon, Maine, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania has been taken over completely, and COPE has partially taken over many of the other state democratic parties.

To offset or counter this political power of organized labor all other groups or segments of American society must be alerted and activated before 1960 or the executive department of our federal government will also be taken over and controlled just as the congress and the supreme court have been taken over. Then we will have a labor-socialist - welfare government in Washington.

American voters—both Democrat and Republican—must wake up before it is too late.

Protest Location of Highway

A Joliet group led by Attorney Robert Thomas was scheduled to have an audience with Gov. Stratton today to discuss the proposed route of Highway 80 in the federal highway program.

The group represented by Mr. Thomas has been circulating petitions in Joliet, protesting the routing of the highway thru that city. Thomas had said that if 4,000 signatures were obtained he was sure the number would impress the governor and other state officials. The petitions to be presented to the governor today contain more than 6,000 signatures and represents about 10 days work.

That's a lot of signatures to get in that time, especially when one considers that no concerted, door-to-door drive was conducted. Most of the signatures came from people who were looking for a place to express their dissatisfaction with the arbitrary attitude of the engineers.

Only one public hearing is required on a federal and state highway project and such a hearing has been held. It was conducted at Joliet and while the engineers have not expressed any views on the protests made against the routing of the highway, they indicated they had made up their minds and protests were useless.

Congressmen say that once they have appropriated money for a department or bureau they are thru and have no voice on how the funds are spent. If that is the case then congress had better correct the situation and make provisions to keep a rein on these spenders.

We feel certain that if the engineers, federal and state, who have outlined the present route for Highway 80 were employed by a private firm for the same purpose, they would plump for a different and less expensive program. If they didn't they would be fired and replaced by men who realized that money does not grow on trees.

Perhaps the engineers are imbued with the idea that wasteful spending has long been identified with military programs. The highway program fostered by the federal government is supposed to provide the nation with a network of roads that contribute to its defense in the event of war. Perhaps they believe waste is the only proper course to follow under such circumstances.

We fail to see how it would aid this country's defense to spend millions and millions of dollars on a road because it wanders about the countryside, passing thru a peat section and making unnecessary railroad and water crossings before it gets to Joliet. There it takes pretty much of a straight course—on stilts—across the entire south side of the city, ruining millions of dollars worth of property and dispossessing thousands of persons of their homes.

By going north out of Tinley Park before swinging west, instead of continuing in a southwesterly direction, the proposed route will cross the Rock Island railroad twice, the Wabash tracks in peaty ground at Marley, Hickory creek three times, and the Michigan Central and the E. J. & E. tracks once. That makes eight crossings and the one over Hickory creek and the Rock Island near Gougar road reportedly will cost as much as the construction of a proposed high level bridge over the waterway at Joliet.

By staying on a southwesterly course out of Tinley the crossings over the Rock Island would be eliminated and there would be only one crossing of Hickory creek. It would still be necessary to cross the Michigan Central and the E. J. & E. railroads, and the Wabash but the Wabash crossing would be on better ground and less costly than the place apparently chosen.

Thus by following a southwesterly course the number of rail and water crossings would be cut in half and Joliet easily bypassed.

The Caterpillar company and other industrial plants in that area would still have access to the new highway if it crossed the waterway south of Joliet instead of in the vicinity of McDonough street where it is slated to go.

Certainly it would be a lot easier on all of us as taxpayers.

It is to be hoped that Gov. Stratton will listen to the Joliet group protesting the location of the highway and that he will endeavor to bring enough pressure to bear to alter the plans.

The governor has been preaching economy. Here's a chance to do something about it.

scientious about dental treatment than men.

Decay can start soon after the first or "baby" teeth appear. The peak in decay activity is usually reached in the teens. Mr. Moon has found that teenagers between the ages of 15 and 19 were most in need of dental work. There was an average of five decayed teeth each in this group.

Up to age 34 for men and 39 for women, dental decay is the chief reason for the loss of teeth. Thereafter, the periodontal diseases (ailments of the gums and other supporting structures) are mainly responsible.

A study of 5,014 patients at the Veterans Administration by three University of Illinois scientists has shown that by age 45, one out of every two men either has lost all his teeth as a result of periodontal disease or is afflicted with it.

Letters to the Editor

Mokena Planning Project

Dear Sir:

You have published two lengthy letters regarding the proposed land use map as presented to the village board by the Mokena Plan Commission of which the writer is a member. These letters in particular seem to reflect a personal controversy between Angland, plan commission chairman, and Weber, owner of farm property and leader of a group supposedly in opposition to the land use map. Both letters contain informative material as well as extraneous stuff.

It seems to me what should govern our thinking is simply what is the best policy for our community. This would eliminate the factor of how such a plan will affect the sale of one's property.

Selling property at some future date to industrial developers without harming the community or selling it very soon to land speculators and real estate developers at a quick profit and with the terrific increase in the accompanying tax burden to the rest of the community is a simplified explanation of the case.

At the last meeting of the Plan commission, representatives of a group of land buyers and home builders presented a plan for building 400 homes per year for FIVE years in an area which we would like to zone as being for industry. A little mental arithmetic would show that this means a yearly population increase of 2,000 (assuming an average family of five per household which is on the low side.) This is a yearly growth greater than the entire population of Mokena itself!

And after the five years as proposed to the Commission, our population would be in excess of 12,000. Without going into the steep increase in taxes for grade school purposes it would mean our own high school, increased village services of police, water, fire protection, sanitary services, parks and recreation etc. This new population could and would vote for anything it wanted and the present residents would be out voted five to one.

Weber's opposition, propaganda says, no industry. His other stuff about "undesirable" employees is poppycock for if industry, the type drawn to unplanned communities, locates just outside the area of the plan commission's jurisdiction, it certainly will attract his "undesirable" employees and they will find a haven in the 2,000 low cost houses built in "Weber's planned community", and instead of having the alleged "undesirables" working in the area we'll find them, if they exist, living inside the Mokena limits! The developers also explained to the plan commission their plans included an unspecified number of apartment buildings!

The proposed land use map was drawn up by highly recommended, competent engineers (and the $2000 fee was paid by the Village, not the plan commission) and was sent on to the village board with the recommendation by the plan commission that it be adopted. It seems to be in the best interests of the entire community as a whole.

Baseball, Soccer, Parks etc.

Dear Sir:

Since the officials of Tinley Park see fit to use the ostrich approach to criticism then it behooves me to explain further about what happened on the shameful Saturday in Tinley Park when the men of the Chicago Heights Soccer team were our visitors and guests. (By the ostrich approach I mean that if you bury your head to criticism maybe it will go away. This leaves you very vulnerable in other ways) Now to the Chicago Heights mess at Memorial Park. First about the permit. If it will satisfy my detractors I was wrong in not pleading with Mr. Selby Hirsch for a permit to use an empty unused park. The letter of request was given to our hard working mayor long before the intended playing date. Evidently he didn't consider it important enough to consider. When West Berlin visited Chicago Governor Stratton named the day as soccer football day in Illinois. He considered it important. It is not the permit, the goal posts in the park or the fact that they were forced to change their clothes in their cars due to lack of a fieldhouse that bothered them, but the complete lack of manners and the arrogant behavior of Tinley's officials.

I was in the park all day setting the goal posts and marking out the field. The police had more than sufficient opportunities to stop me. After we had started to play they walked onto the field, the officer then blew his whistle and forced us to take down the goal posts. He threatened me with arrest if we did not comply with his and Mr. Hirsch's demands. When the Recreation Commission purchased this land and deeded it over to the village it said nothing of a permit being necessary for play in the park. It also states in said deed that an admission may be charged for athletic events in this park. I imagine a collection to defray expenses can be construed to mean the same thing. A collection is also against the law in the park.

This hurts more than a little bit any organized group playing in this park. This same police department and village government gave me a citation for youth work last fall. How soon people forget. The officer also made some unkind remarks that were not justified. All the gentlemen soccer players said that you should have demanded arrest and we would have all gone with you. Most of these men have seen the war in all its fury and misery in Europe. If the officials had come to me afterward and told me that you have committed a terrible crime, do not do it again. I would have yes sirred and no sirred an acquiesced to their most important positions. This isn't the first time the park president and I have tangled. I was on him constantly to mow the field last summer. Due to inability or unwillingness to perform his job I was forced to mow it myself for free naturally. When baseballs are lost due the grass being over ankles in height its past due for a mowing. Last Sunday the Police team had its first workout and again we spent a great deal of time looking for balls in the grass in the outfield. It does not do the sickle bar or the balls much good to be lost and run over while mowing. This park could be the beauty spot in Tinley instead of its eyesore.

Do you know that there is still broken glass on the field from last fall's carnival? The grass is almost nonexistent in big areas and the outfield playing surface is very rough. This is what makes balls take crazy hops and results in broken noses etc. It's a mess.

Ten young men from Tinley agreed to play soccer. Not enough for a team but a good start. When the time came to play four put in their appearances, one from out of town. Evidently promises don't mean much to our local stalwarts. Soccer is a very strenuous game. It requires good physical condition to run constantly for 90 minutes. In the games I've seen I have yet to see a man badly hurt. You are going to think twice before you intentionally hurt another player because your only protection is a pair of shin guards. If you go out of your way to hurt another man the chances are that they will carry you off in a stretcher before the day is over. The Tinley team would without a doubt be beaten badly to begin with but I believe we could hold our own, given experience. I have not given up on soccer. It will take much longer than I anticipated. Soccer is a good game and has a definite place in high school interschool competition if for no other reason than its cheapness of play. It is comparable to basketball in the expense of outfitting a team. I have talked to Mr. Birkhead about an exhibition with four man teams on the basketball floor between halves during next winters basketball season. He is afraid of hard kicks into the crowd, but a hard kick could be declared a penalty and a resultant free kick.

There are many ways in which Tinley could be improved with a little old fashioned all American sweat if people are interested in improving the town instead of the stagnant status quo and stupid that seems to be Tinley's only objective at the present time. Do you know that I have been turned down twice by the Recreation Commission for funds to keep the Police team, composed of lads up to 18, alive. Since the soccer went over like a lead balloon, expensive baseball is second best to my way of thinking.

The recreation commission's main objective is that it is too much money for too few young men, but if one young man can be kept out of trouble in my book it's money well spent. They do not seem to realize that the team must be re-equipped due to the police department getting disgusted at the local young men for their indifference and giving all the equipment to a Chicago charity. It appears to me that one of Tinley's very generous merchants could come forward with the funds to put the team on the field again this summer. The Tinley Park American Legion is willing to sponsor it but lack the funds, due to every cent being needed to buy our new home. It is Police league this summer and American Legion baseball next summer if the funds can be found and donated by one of Tinley's generous merchants. It is good advertising. It gets your store's name in the paper each week. Perhaps some suggestions of ways in which Tinley could be improved are in order next if people care enough. Your for a better village.

On Second Thought

by

Glenn F. Logan

After watching and listening to TV and radio commercials we have come to the conclusion that the old recipe for success can be thrown away.

That old business about study, concentration, long hours and hard work are just so much chowder. And that old cliché which would have you believe that who you know is more important than what you know—you can throw that out, and a little bit of luck too.

One doesn't have to work to be successful nor does one have to be lucky to attain success—at least that is what one can believe after listening to the pitchmen on video and radio.

All one needs is to eat, wear, drink, live in, drive, smoke, or otherwise use, the right brand of product.

The proper dentifrice is important too. As a matter of fact the reason why Joe Doe is in the chips and Robert Doe is either arrived or on his way to skid row is because he didn't brush his teeth with U-235. Failure to do this resulted in his china getting yellow and his breath a sort of purplish brown. People shunned him and his order book remained empty. It got so he finally couldn't sell an anvil to a blacksmith just starting up in business.

On the other hand, Joe used U-235 and his teeth were white and sparkling and his breath was sweet and pleasant like a well-made martini or a fine bourbon. Well, you know what happened. Joe, who looked just as much like a creep as Robert before he began using U-235, took on a new personality. And the people began flocking to him.

They even stood in line and begged. "Please, Mr. Robert Doe—" hey, you know what? This guy, Robert, his last name isn't Doe—it's Roe—so let's go back and start over. "Please Mr. Roe," they would say, "sell us some of your stuff."

It didn't make any difference whether it was shad or shingle nails. They wanted to buy from Robert and when he began to sell hot tamales to ulcer sufferers the directors made him a member of the board and a vice-president.

Now that Richard is an executive the rest of the way is easy. He gets his picture in all the slick paper magazines as a man of distinction because he drinks a certain brand of whisky and the next thing likely to happen, unless he bars the door, will be Edward Morrow coming into his living room, and filling the house with cigarette smoke.

For some reason commercial drinking is taboo on TV and come to think about it I don't believe I ever saw anyone boosting hard liquor on video except in detective and western shows.

The successful man drinks beer on TV. At least he hoists the glass and starts it toward his mouth before the scene is faded into the address of the brewery or the distributor.

And there is no question but that he is a success because usually you find the beer drinker busy presiding over a mammoth outdoor fireplace, set up in a yard that must have stood him at least $20,000 for just the landscaping, and broiling a mound of steaks that cost him at least $2.50 apiece, and then course there are the tubs of iced beer.

In the distance one may glimpse the garage with at least three cars, a sedan, a convertible and a sports job and a look at the corner of the house reveals that it is a simple, but liveable cottage that must have cost $50,000.

If a person can maintain such an establishment just by drinking beer just think what a scotch or bourbon drinker can do.

The cigarette smokers are an affluent lot too because the ads clearly show that by smoking the right kind of cigarette with the right kind of filter there is no limit to the heights he can attain.

By and large the cigarette crowd is a fun loving set. The members spend all their time at plushy resorts and vacation spots.

One finds them in the Bahamas, Hawaii, Maine, Florida, Sun Valley, Lake Louise, California and the more expensive lakes in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan. They also are to be found at all the championship fights, the World Series baseball games, and the top drawer gridiron contests.

Once in awhile one sees a cigar smoker working at some task but not the cigarette boys. When you see one of them toiling you know right away he is a ringer. He may be punching cattle, performing as a deep sea diver, catching rivets or manning an air hammer but the wise video viewer

DENTAL HEALTH

The Result of Neglected Dental Decay

A short while after a man bruises his finger with a hammer, healing takes place, and the injured area is repaired, usually without a scar.

Not so with teeth. They can not repair themselves. What's more, unless they are cared for, the tiny "bruise" or infection tends to become larger and larger until the tooth can no longer be saved.

Studies show a direct relationship between visits to the dentist and the number of sound teeth in a person's mouth.

The Bureau of Economic Research and Statistics of the American Dental Association finds that individuals who have not seen their dentist in more than three years are far more likely to require complete artificial dentures than those who make periodic visits.

The survey, covering 37,911 people, showed that 17.9 per cent of women who had not seen a dentist in a three year period need two complete dentures compared with only 6.0 per cent who had treatment 18 to 24 months before.

Among men, the figures 20.9 per cent and 7.6 per cent. B. Duane Moen, Bureau director, said the study indicates that women are more conscious of dental health.

Right now the softest for a person who likes to live in luxury without working is to buy certain makes of automobiles. These cars sell at such low prices that one lives quite comfortably on the savings.

By buying Car A at $4,000 instead of Car B at $8,000 one can readily see that he is saving $4,000. Now $4,000 is not going to go too far so the solution is to buy more cars, say six a year for a net saving of $24,000. That's bad, especially as this would be tax free.

By pursuing the same course in real estate one can save even more. By buying a $20,000 house instead of a $50,000 place one saves $30,000 in one transaction.

There seems to be a catch in this someplace but I suppose I'm just stupid. Radio and TV both assure one that such savings are possible and the old copybooks say that a penny saved is a penny earned. So there you are.

Letters to the Editor

PRaises MOKENA BOARD

Dear Sir:
I submit the following for consideration in your letters to the editor. I prefer that you do not use my name if that is possible.

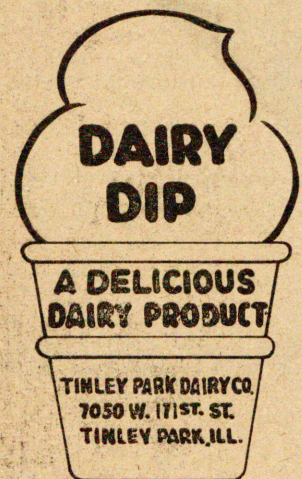

We all owe a vote of thanks and congratulations to the Mokena village board for their refusal to change the Plan Commission's recommendations for a new subdivision. It is gratifying to see public officials who will not be influenced by a few to line their own pockets at the detriment of many.

For the past several weeks your newspaper has indicated a rising interest in the efforts of Frankfort and Mokena to achieve an orderly growth pattern whose objective is the greatest good for the greatest number. Far too many towns have neglected to make such plans and are now paying a very high price for this neglect. Frankfort and Mokena are to be congratulated for the efforts of their planning commissions working with a professional planning engineer to achieve the best future for our home areas. It would be folly to disregard their recommendations after seeking their advice. We do not hire a teacher and tell him how to teach our children. We do not go to a doctor or lawyer for advice and do the opposite of his best judgement. If his professional advice is worth paying for, it is worth following.

Leading magazines have carried many articles by students of city planning in which towns such as ours are warned that neglect in having a plan for orderly growth will probably result in what are now being termed "suburban slums of tomorrow." Top Universities such as Northwestern The University of Chicago and The University of Illinois now offer special training for what are known as Planning Engineers. The day of the amateur city planner has become a thing of the past as in many other fields, and only professional training and advice will meet the needs of today.

We all want our communities to progress in an orderly and organized fashion. We want our children, the future citizens, to be trained in the manner which will best suit them to the future. We also want our communities to advance in the same manner. This may be a might slower, but much more lasting. With the increased population and residential growth of our communities, we need light industry to help make it a well rounded and a substantial area in which to live. We need their help to finance this growth, but we must make it attractive to them also. Not only for the financial help we receive from industry, we need the additional employment that they will offer our increased population. Who of us would not rather spend thirty minutes a day going to work in a new plant operated by one of our neighbors who helps support the community, than spend the two hours now spent traveling to "The City?"

A Bit of Germany in Illinois

JOHN W. ALLEN
So. Ill. University

We have come to believe that almost any town beside an Illinois highway will furnish an interesting story to the curious. This conclusion was strengthened a few days ago during a visit to Teutopolis, on the old and storied National Road about four miles east of Effingham. It was found that this strangely named town had not one but several interesting stories.

Unlike many other towns, this one did not come about by accident. It was planned and really had its beginning in Cincinnati as the result of some wide awake thinking by a group of German Catholics who were living in the Ohio city and its vicinity. It also was there that, after lengthy discussions, the name meaning City of Teutons was selected.

Among the Ohio group was a carpenter named Clemens Uptmor who conceived a plan whereby those able and willing to do so could contribute $10 each month to a fund for the purchase of government land in some state west of Ohio on which to form a settlement. Three men made up the original group. The next month there were six additional members and a few months later the total had reached 141, with funds increased accordingly.

In early 1838 this group decided that it was time to take action. They selected a committee of three and sent them out to seek a suitable location for a colony. After 15 weeks of prospecting they returned to Cincinnati to make their report. They requested, however, that they be not required to reveal publicly the exact location of the tract chosen, fearing that "land sharks" would buy it up and profiteer on them. They also wished to take other selected representatives to see and evaluate the lands.

Two additional members were added to the original three man committee and all prepared to depart immediately. In late June, 1838, this group set out on foot for Illinois, but they took along one saddled horse that was ridden in turn. The main purpose in taking the horse was to carry along $16,000 cash in the saddlebags. Throughout the long journey two "heavily armed men walked along either side of the horse."

They reached the Teutopolis region without mishap, looked the region over once more, approved it and proceeded to the U. S. Land Office at Vandalia where they completed the purchase of 10,000 acres of the public domain at a cost of $1.25 an acre. This deal was closed on July 5 and 6, 1838.

Upon their return to Cincinnati a plan for the allocation of the land was adopted. It was divided into town lots, outlots and farm tracts of 40 and 80 acres. Each member received one town lot, one out lot and 40 acres of farmland. Some who had made sufficient payments were granted an additional 80 acres. Before drawings were made a plat of the entire tract was prepared and each division was numbered. Allocation was made by drawing these numbers from a hat. There is no record to indicate dissatisfaction with the method.

Each participant was required to make a minimum contribution of $10 toward the erection of a church and all unallocated lands became church lands.

Each stockholder had been given a town lot, few built upon them, preferring to build on the farm tracts they had received. The village thus grew slowly.

One of the handicaps of the new settlement was the absence of a grist mill. This was remedied by the erection of a large structure operated by a windmill. This mill, 40 feet high and with wings 53 feet long, began operation July 4, 1845. It remained one of the region's noted landmarks for years. The tower of the church now stands about where the mill was.

Perhaps no community in Illinois has been and remained so solidly German Catholic as Teutopolis. Few have retained as much of a distinctive German culture. Now, 120 years after its settlement, much of the folklore and many of the customs, beliefs, traditions and practices of Germany are observable in the area. The influence of the church in the community is impressive. The community itself is a distinctive one, and those who pause at Teutopolis enjoy the experience.

60 YEARS OUTSTANDING SERVICE

Wayside Workers Circle Elects Staff of Officers for 1959-60

By ELIZABETH B. ANDERSON

At a well-attended meeting of the Wayside Workers circle of the King's Daughters in the home of Mrs. E. A. Cary Thursday, the circle elected officers for the coming year. Mrs. Ira Anderson was named president to succeed Mrs. Iola Storm, who is ill; Mrs. James Elvig will serve as vice-president; Mr. F. J. Paddock and Mrs. H. Reed Burch were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively. Mrs. Paddock presided, Mrs. Elvig gave the Bible study, Mrs. John White favored with a vocal solo accompanied by Mrs. Elvig. Mrs. Wilbur Francis Sr. was the assisting hostess. Following the meeting, the group toured Hannah Harwood Girls club on Bluff st., which is sponsored by Will county King's Daughters, and of which Mrs. Cary is a director. The next meeting will be a picnic at the church at noon, July 2.

Mrs. H. M. Finley of Lockport, formerly of Homer, was elected chairman of the Northern Area of United Church women at a state meeting in Decatur recently.

Homer graduates received many honors at the recent L.T.H.S. exercises; Shirley Smith was class salutatorian and received an activities award; Susanne Burcham won a science award, a state scholarship test award as well as credit for a perfect four years' attendance; John Adelman, Randall Carroll and Cheryl Sass were also on the perfect attendance list, and Cheryl received an activities award.

John Mark, Cedar rd., was called to Milroy, Minnesota Friday by the serious illness of his father.

Betty Anderson attended a birthday party in honor of a school friend, Margaret, at Dellwood Park Thursday.

The Tigers and Cardinals of the Homer Little League played their first game last Monday evening at the Reed school grounds with the Tigers winning, Friday evening, the Athletics won over the Cardinals. The games begin promptly at 6:30 p.m. each Monday and Friday.

The Good Luck camp of Royal Neighbors will meet in Homer church social rooms on Thursday, June 18 at 1:30 p.m. Hostesses will be Mmes. Marie, Ballew, Marie Homering, Frances Kolar and Gertrude Heatherwick.

The names of Daniel Shepherd and Cheryl Farmer were unintentionally omitted from the list of Homer young people who graduated from Ludwig school last week. We beg your pardon.

John Adelman, 147th st., was the guest of honor at a high school graduation party at N. W. Homer fire house Saturday evening, June 6. A large group of relatives and friends enjoyed the celebration; games, dancing and refreshments each played a part in the festivities. John has the unique distinction of being the only person in his class who was not absent during the 12 years which he has attended school, and this in spite of the fact that he has always lived some distance from school, and not a hard road. He deserves a lot of credit for his perseverance.

Jerome Paddock is enjoying a vacation in northern Michigan, as a reward in a tractor sales contest.

Charles Dale has been hospitalized at Silver Cross since early last week. She returned home Friday.

Donna Reed has been a medical patient at Silver Cross for a few days.

Mrs. Iola Storm returned to Silver Cross for medical treatment after spending a few days in her home in Lockport. She is the victim of bronchial pneumonia.

William Kasper Jr. has sold his home on Rt. 7 to Robert Johnson of Lockport. The Kaspers have bought a farm near south Farrell rd. and expect to move in July.

Serving as hostesses for the Homer Fire Auxiliary Monday evening were Mesdames Walter Mooney, Frank Morris, Bernard Morris and Edward Pasdertz. Routine business was transacted and rugs were sold. Earl Burnworth, rug chairman, would appreciate help in cutting and sewing rugs for rugs. The next meeting will be July 6 at the Homer school.

Several people from here attended the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mason at their home in Lockport Sunday. The Masons are well-known former Homer residents, and friends wish them many more happy years.

Four Graduated At Maue School

Graduation exercises were held in the Maue school May 29 for the four eighth grade students, Pamela Cripps, James Sometis, Joan Stellwagen, and Carole Turay.

The school was nicely decorated in flowers and after the exercises cookies and punch were served in the school basement, which was also decorated. Janice Kuteriem and Barbara Strassenberg served.

The class with Mrs. J. M. Milner, attended a movie in Joliet and had dinner in the Valley View restaurant following, on Wednesday afternoon.

No rest for this Chevy...round the clock the engine never stops!

At Washington's bustling National Airport, Allied Aviation Fueling counts on its radio-equipped Chevy to get crews and tank trucks to the right planes at just the right time. Aside from occasional time out for the usual service, its Thriftmaster 6-cylinder engine has been running 24 hours a day for the past 9 months!

Once you've got that kind of endurance working you don't worry much about lost job time. Breakdowns go out of style the day your Chevy goes into action.

The fact is, Chevrolet trucks are dead set on dropping the word "downtime" right out of the English language. And they just might, if precision engineering and top-quality materials have anything to say about it. Chevy trucks are put together to stay together—incorporating the most advanced chassis developments, the most efficient 6-cylinder and V8 engine designs. They're built to last, built to keep Chevrolet's hard-earned reputation for reliability flying high.

Going into the real heart of Chevrolet advantages is where your dealer comes in. He'll show you, in feature after feature, that you can't buy more truck dependability—in any weight class—at any price.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

Business and Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

The administration has now officially recognized the difficulty the government is having in marketing its bonds.

The ceiling for interest rates on government bonds of over five year maturity has been fixed at 4 1/4 per cent. It is now to be increased. Whether this increase in interest rate, will, of itself be sufficient to substantially increase the interest in long term government bonds as investment media, is doubted. The government must find ways and means to attract interest in its longer maturities.

There will be much sound and fury from political sources, regarding the problem of financing the debt, but firm steps to aid, will be taken cautiously and reluctantly as any effective steps will pinch some segment of the public. Obviously, the steps chosen, will be those believed likely to have the least effective political opposition.

The stock market has had a period of lower prices with much smaller volume of activity.

The June 1, 1959 issue of The Outlook, weekly investment service of Standard and Poor's Investment Service, comments on recent market activity. They state, "Last week furnished another demonstration of the strong underlying demand for common stocks. Notwithstanding their sizeable gains, representative issues still are not unduly high relative to the levels commanded in previous strong markets. Industrials, for example, are selling at little more than 16 times estimated 1959 earnings. A constructive policy is still advised."

The Outlook points out, that the market action indicates a quieting of speculative enthusiasm. It points out that, on the whole, the market's performance has been satisfactory with a series of consolidation movements as contrasted with the steady upsurge in 1958.

This service believes the market is healthy and that barring unforeseen developments, an irregular extension of the upward trend can be expected. It points out that seasonal forces will soon be operating in the markets favor and that historically, June and July are characterized by rising stock prices. Earnings are rapidly increasing to justify present market prices which is typical of market experience when emerging from a recession and entry into a new growth phase.

The popularity of common stocks as an investment media, has been steadily increasing. The latest SEC survey shows that 27 per cent of pension fund assets, were invested in common stock at the close of 1958 as contrasted with 25 per cent in 1957 and 12 per cent in 1951.

Natl. Tea Sales Up $18-Million

Another record high for sales was reported by National Tea Co. this week when H. V. McNamara, president, announced that sales for the Company's fifth four week accounting period were again the highest on record for any like reporting period in the company's history, bringing total gain for the year to date to more than $18 million.

National Tea Co. consolidated sales for the four week period ending May 23, 1959 reached $63,102,736 for an increase of $3,894,047, which amounts to a gain of 6.58 per cent over 1958, when the company's sales were $59,208,689.

Year to date sales for twenty weeks ending May 23, 1959 totaled $311,154,327 as compared to $292,911,046 for the corresponding twenty weeks of 1958.

This gives the Chicago based Midwestern food chain an increase of $18,243,281 for the year to date, which is 6.23 per cent ahead of the company's sales for the same time a year ago.

The Bremen Beat

GIRLS CLUB

Jeanette Rizzuti was elected president of the Girls Club at Bremen Community High school for the 1959-60 school year. Ann Hopman was voted first vice president.

Judy Pagen was named second vice president, Ellyn Simms was voted secretary, and Dianne Mason received most votes as treasurer.

Girl's Club sponsors are Mrs. Phyllis Davis and Marion Imbery.

Pension funds were the largest institutional buyers of common stocks. In 1958 they purchased $1.2 billion market value of common stock and in 1957, a total of $1 billion. To this can be added the two other very large institutional buyers, profit sharing plans and Mutual Funds.

In 1933 Congress passed the Agricultural Adjustment Act providing for crop loans. This was intended as support loans. This was a polite fiction. The mandatory loans of the act of 1938 were intended as temporary protections against very low prices.

World War II aided commodity market prices and government crop cost was small.

Today, the emergency provisions of war time, have become permanent and the government acquiring staggering amounts of farm commodities as surplus and at very large costs in loans and storage.

As of now, the problem is one with no likely solution because of effective political trading by an astute farm lobby.

Walk A Day Drives Cares Away

By ROBERTS MANN
Conservation Editor
Cook Co. Forest Preserve

One of the most momentous lessons in life is when we first learn to walk. Then a child ceases to be a crawling baby, utterly dependent upon someone older, and becomes able to toddle toward what it wants.

A child is fortunate if it has a father or a grandfather who will teach the youngster how to walk properly: not with feet turned outward like a waddling duck, but with toes pointed straight ahead, like a fox — or slightly inward, like an Indian — and with a gripping spring from the toes after the heel and ball of each foot, lightly and almost simultaneously, have touched the ground. With the body relaxed and the arms swinging freely, such a stride enables a person to walk long distances with a minimum of fatigue.

A child is doubly fortunate if that parent loves the outdoors, has a feeling of kinship with the soil, is familiar with the trees and smaller plants, knows the secret lives of wild creatures, and whose pathless ways of walking might be described by Arthur Sedgwick's verse:

For us the path that twists at will Thru wood and field and up the hill
Then there will always be new things to see, bits of nature lore to treasure, and walking becomes one of the most rewarding pleasures in life.

Geo. Macaulay Trevelyan's essay on walking begins with "I have two doctors, my left leg and my right. When mind and body are out of gear . . . I know that I shall have only to call in my two doctors and I shall be well again." Physicians agree with him. They say that what a business or professional person, a "white collar worker, a teacher or a student, needs at the end of a hard day—when he or she feels tense, nervous or irritable — is not a stimulant nor a tranquilizer pill but a brisk walk of two or three miles.

Walking in the fresh air, with legs and arms swinging freely, is one of the finest and most beneficial forms of general exercise. It pumps oxygen into the body and, in addition to purely physical benefits, rewards the walker with a sense of well-being and peace of mind. Further, it is known that walking not only prevents certain kinds of heart ailments but can cure them. An eminent specialist, in a recent book, recommends daily walks; only two or three blocks in length at first but gradually increased until they cover, without undue fatigue, four or five miles.

We people in Cook county are extraordinarily fortunate in having more than 46,000 acres of publicly owned land, the forest preserves, so easily accessible and in which we may walk or wander at will. Most of it is unspoiled native landscapes; much of it is densely wooded. There are 175 miles of improved trails that follow the streams or wind thru the hills and bring the walker to many places of scenic, biological or historical interest.

For those who like to saunter along the trails or across country, and the lusty hikers, there are illustrated folders—free of charge—one for each of the nine divisions of the district. Each features a map of that division showing the trails, picnic areas, points of interest and other things you may enjoy.

In five preserves notable for their trees, wildflowers and other features there are self-guiding nature trails from highway entrances marked with a sign: Woodland Trail—For Health, Relaxation and Fun—Take a Walk.

Eventually there will be 17 of these. That is something a whole family can enjoy together. The Little Red Schoolhouse and Aux Plaines River Trail nature centers each have three self-guiding trails in loops leading from and back to them.

Walking is the best and cheapest form of recreation.

THIS, TOO, IS TEXAS EASTERN

Natural Gas — Always
At Your Finger Tip
Thanks To Modern
Communications

When temperatures suddenly drop and more and more gas is needed to keep homes well heated, do you ever wonder where the extra amounts of natural gas come from?

The amount of gas available to Texas Eastern's customers most likely depends on a man a thousand or more miles away—the chief dispatcher at the Company's Gas Division headquarters in Shreveport, Louisiana. It's his job to keep the right amounts of gas moving through the more than 6,100 miles of Texas Eastern pipelines.

In order for the dispatcher to anticipate requests for more gas, he receives hourly reports of weather in our sales areas (we deliver gas to utilities at 114 points in 14 different states). When temperatures drop, the dispatcher calls for more gas to be taken into the system. When it rises and demand lessens, he reduces the amount of gas coming into the pipeline.

Now, just how is this giant chess game played? The dispatcher moves all of the chessmen. His moves are determined by many factors—among them are temperature, volume of gas called for, compression, gas needed from producing areas, delivery rates, points of delivery and the amount of gas needed at each point. The moves are made on the dispatcher's plotting chart at the Gas Division headquarters.

The dispatcher keeps a close watch over weather changes. If it looks like a cold spell is developing in any area he immediately goes into action. He informs our measurement men and compressor station personnel that more gas is going to be needed at an appointed time. Field men increase production from wells, processing plants step up their job of cleaning the gas and removing liquids, the gas goes to receiving points where it is measured, and, at just the right time, it moves into Texas Eastern's system.

The dispatching office is never closed—someone is on duty to supervise movement of gas 24 hours a day—seven days a week.

Texas Eastern employs a wide range of communication equipment—leased telephone lines, VHF radio and microwave circuits. The dispatcher uses all of these to make sure gas is delivered as needed.

This is one of a series of monthly reports on the diversified activities of Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation.

Sandburg High Students Make Good Showing

In assessing the overall accomplishments of students at Carl Sandburg high school during the 1958-59 school year the balance sheet shows a high standard of excellence in both the academic and extra-curricular programs.

Acceptance of senior students in the top institutions of higher learning, the nearly 50 scholarship awards offered to graduates and high ratings in national testing programs attest to the academic preparedness of the student body.

In the field of athletics Sandburg's Eagles captured five out of the twelve championships offered in the Southwest Suburban conference. In state finals competition Sandburg was represented by the golf team and individuals from the cross-country and wrestling squads.

The science, mathematics, speech and music departments were also represented when the final tabulations were made at state contests. By virtue of taking eight outstanding and 1st place awards in the State Science fair with science and mathematics projects, Sandburg had a higher percentage of top awards than any other school represented.

In speech competition, Sandburg students lost out by a slim margin to the eventual state champion, but qualified several individuals for the state finals. Playing in the top bracket of competition in the state music contest, Sandburg instrumental and vocal students won several top awards.

Supt. W. O. Fisher ranks overall excellency and quality as more desirable than greatness in a limited area with only mediocrity in other phases of the program.

and Mrs. Kenneth Helreigel.

Mrs. Charles Zitter entered Silver Cross hospital Sunday and underwent surgery Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McWhorter have returned from a vacation trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, also touring some of the eastern coastal states.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hatz and family have moved into their home in New Lenox. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kovar have purchased the home vacated by the Hatz family and will move in shortly.

Mason Believes Public Wants Sound, Conservative Government

By CONG. N. M. MASON
In 1932 F. D. R. ran for President on an ultra-conservative platform, one plank of which was: "I propose to reduce government expenditures by 25%." F. D. R. was elected by an overwhelming majority. In 1952 Dwight D. Eisenhower also ran for President on an ultraconservative platform — with promises to cut expenditures, cut taxes, eliminate waste and graft in government, to get rid of mink coat influence and five percenters, etc. Ike was also elected by an overwhelming majority. Six years later, however — in 1958 — Republican Congressional candidates everywhere were either defeated or badly bruised politically. Why?

Was it because the Eisenhower Administration had adopted the New Deal program — "spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect" — calling it by a new name, Modern Republicanism? Was it because Eisenhower discarded the Taft conservative program upon which he had been elected and started in to spend in peace time more than the Democrats had previously spent in peace time? Was it because Senator Joe McCarthy did more to elect Ike than any other Republican — a man whose crusade against Communists in government influenced hundreds of thousands of good Catholic Democrats to vote for Ike; then was repaid for his efforts by being politically assassinated thru a Senate resolution of censure directed from sources in the White House? Or was it a combination of all these things that disgusted enough Republican voters to bring about the 1958 political debacle?

Clover Mites Nuisance but No Health Menace

By JAMES FIZZELL
Assistant Farm Adviser
This spring many a housewife has been shocked to find the window sills, baseboards, and doors of her home crawling with tiny dark red and almost black specks. Clover mites feed on grass, clover and weeds in the lawn, but do not feed on clothing, curtains, rugs or foodstuffs, nor do they bite people. Their presence in the house seems to be due to a lost wandering in search of food and warmth. They are a nuisance only, and are not in any way a menace to health.

Clover mites overwinter as adults or eggs on the brick or stone outside the house, or in cracks and crevices in the wall. Activity begins in early spring about the time the grass grows green, and ceases about the beginning of June. In the summer the mites are usually inactive, but may again be a pest in the fall.

To prevent these mites from migrating to the house from the lawn, remove grass and weeds next to the foundation, leaving a strip of bare soil at least 18 inches. This strip may be planted with flowers such as zinnias, roses, chrysanthemums, or salvia, which do not attract clover mites. In most instances this measure alone will prevent migration of this pest into the home.

To control already existing mites, clean up the infestation in the house with a vacuum cleaner. For outside treatment, spray the foundation and win-

The onion maggot is causing severe damage to the majority of onion fields in South Cook areas. The adult population is heavy. Control measures for the adults are as follows: For heavy populations, use one-third pound diazinon, or one-third pound parathion per acre. For lighter infestations, two pounds of actual DDT or Malathion. Follow the instructions on the Malathion label.

I have received numerous calls from homeowners regarding the control of Japanese beetles. As many of you realize, there is a quarantine area in South Cook county, and an aerial dusting program has been initiated by the Illinois Department of Agriculture for the control of this pest. Home owners wishing additional control measures, may use DDT.

Phalton and Maneb are two fungicides which will check black spot on roses. Phalton can be used at the rate of 2 lbs. of wettable powder in a gallon of water, or one tbs. of 70% Maneb wettable powder in a gallon of water. Dusts or sprays are also satisfactory.

Director of Special Education to Address Council for Handicapped

The council for Handicapped Children, which meets at the Blackhawk school, 130 Blackhawk drive, Park Forest, has engaged Dr. Harold R. Phelps, director, Division of Special Education, Illinois State Normal University, to speak at the June 12 meeting. He will speak on "The Role of Lay Groups in Meeting the Needs of the Exceptional Child."

Dr. Phelps has supervised classes for the mentally retarded thruout the state of Ohio and carried out research on the out of school adjustment of the mentally retarded and on special class placement for the educable mentally retarded.

The Council reports two major accomplishments, the formation of Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops for educable mentally retarded boys and girls. The Council will join with the South Suburban Council for Retarded Children in a joint picnic on June 28, at Sauk Trail Woods South.

Gold Circle Days for the benefit of the Council for Handicapped Children, will be held the weekends of June 13

Electric Eye Nabs Multiple License Holder

Because it has a suspicious nature, the electronic data processing system used in the Drivers License Division of the office of Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter led to the quick apprehension of a man who was using the license renewal routine to pass worthless checks.

When the information on multiple renewal applications, submitted in the name of Edward Charles Moran, but each bearing a different address in Cook county, was fed into the system, it flipped a blip, or something, and personnel in the Drivers License division were alerted to the possibility that an Edward Charles Moran of so many addresses could have a questionable aroma.

He did — Stateville. Secretary Carpenter told how his office notified the Chicago Currency Exchange Association, Inc., to be on the lookout for the ubiquitous Mr. Moran when the applications in his name began to accumulate.

He was located when he presented himself, a driver license renewal application and a check for $25 to cover the $3 renewal fee at the Mutual Currency Exchange, 3951 Broadway, Chicago. As a clerk began to telephone police, Moran ran out of the office, but into the arms of squad car police.

When police checked Moran's record they found he had been released last January from Stateville, where he had been serving a 5 to 10 year sentence for confidence game, and that his police record extends back to 1937 and covers several midwestern states.

In a three week period, he had submitted 23 applications for renewal of a driver license. But he has never had a driver license in Illinois, and cannot drive an automobile.

His 23 applications are going to get him 23 charges of violating the section of the Drivers License law which prohibits making false statements on applications, Secretary Carpenter said.

Chicago police are holding him on a charge of passing bad checks.

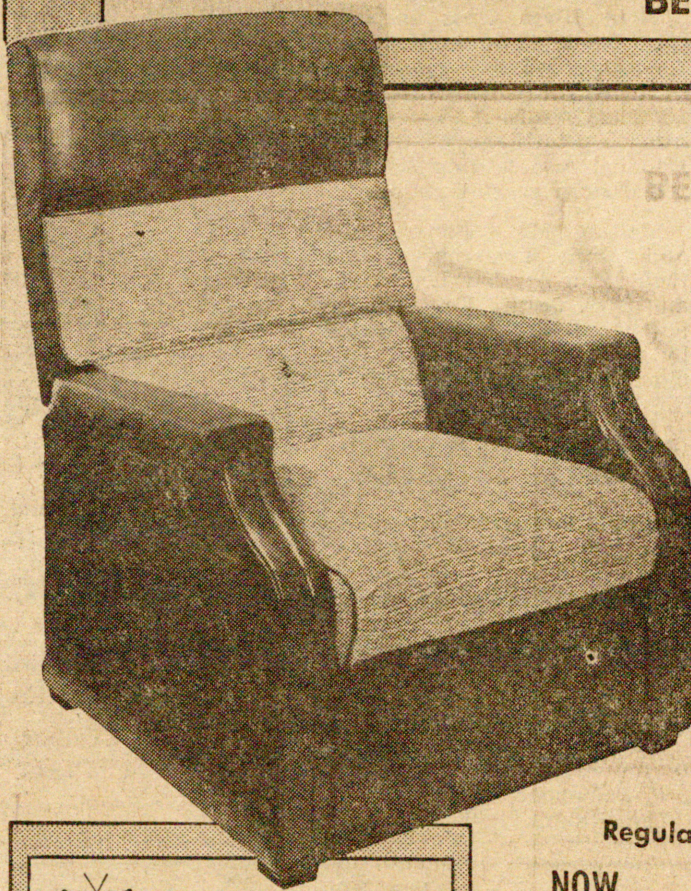

Mr. Moran is a pretty fast-moving fellow, but he will probably not challenge an electron to a race again, Secretary Carpenter commented.
